MEDIATORS
ATTITUDE OUTLINED

Up to Carranza to Determine Pacification of Mexico By Diplomacy

ENVOYS ARE OPTIMISTIC

And Believe That Constitutionalists Will See Their Way Towards Meeting Their Views—Huerta Preparing to Withdraw From Presidency.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Niagara Falls, June 3.—The attention of the mediators today was turned toward General Carranza, constitutionalist chief. From him must come the next move which will determine whether or not Mexico will be pacified by diplomacy. The way has been opened by the mediators for participation in the conferences by the constitutionalists if they care to come in. Rafael Zubaran minister of the interior in General Carranza's cabinet who is now in Washington on a special mission, will have received today a note outlining the attitude of the mediators.

The communication is phrased diplomatically and paves the way for the entry of constitutionalists. In fact, according to those who are well informed it is difficult to see how the constitutionalists can refuse, so adroitly have the mediators placed their position before them.

A middle ground is believed to have been found and the mediators feel encouraged and optimistic. They profess confidence that the constitutionalists will see their way toward meeting their views.

Announcing last night that Gen. Huerta is preparing to withdraw from the provisional presidency, the statement of the Mexican delegates declared that Huerta would resign when Mexico is "politically pacified."

The peace plan before the mediators is a simple one. It reaches into international questions only. Suggestions as to personnel will have to be agreed upon privately. The protocol, which will be signed here, will be a declaration of peace, reforms, and advice to Mexico to set up a provisional government, having regard to the interests of all factions. The actual composition of the new government will be a matter of physical accomplishment as soon as the protocol is signed, the United States giving its promise to recognize the new government. The general view here is one of optimism. The constitutionalists answer to the mediators "note of today is not expected at once." It is believed the time necessary for communicating with Gen. Carranza and the suggestion of one of the American delegates that the words "Useful and Desirable" in case of differences between two countries for neutrals to offer their good services in mediation. And furthermore it was on the suggestion of one of the American delegates that the words "And Desirable" were added to the convention as finally adopted.

WILL THE REBELS
DECLARE A TRUCE
WITH FEDERALS?

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Washington, June 3.—Rafael Zubaran, Carranza's agent in Washington was to take up with his chief in distant Durango today the note from the mediators which asked, in effect, whether the constitutionalists are willing to discuss the national as well as the international phase of the Mexican problem and to reclose a truce with Huerta.

On the reply would hinge, it was believed, the next big act in the Niagara conference. It was expected to reveal, officially, Carranza's attitude toward the efforts of the South American envoys, and possibly to determine whether mediation was to be confined to the dispute between Huerta and the United States or include the general problem of a cure for Mexico's ills.

Coming on the heels of a statement by the Huerta delegates that the federal dictator was ready to resign when Mexico was politically pacified, it put up to Carranza, temporarily at least, the proposition of general mediation. How he would answer the mediators' note could not be foreseen. Zubaran who is Carranza's minister of the interior declined to discuss it.

Constitutionalist representatives today indicated that if their victorious campaign to Mexico City continued there would be no need of mediation. Commenting on suggestion that ever if they did occupy the ancient capital, there still would be need of help to restore order, they asserted that the "good offices" of outsiders would not be required.

There would be "neither plaintiff nor defendant" then, they contended.

THE PREPARATORY

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Associated Press Boat of Glenn Cove, L. I., June 3. (By wire.)—The second of the preparatory races held to select the yacht that will defend America's cup this year, from a British challenger began on Long Island Sound this afternoon with weather a promised repetition of yesterday's conditions.

The Vanitie, owned by Alexander Smith Cochran and winner of the first contest was out jockeyed at the start by the Resolute with Charles Adams II. at the helm and crossed the line 12 seconds behind her rival.

The official time for the start was Resolute 12:16.30. Vanitie 12:16.42.

The race today was over a course to windward and leeward, each leg a trifle over 6-1/4 miles, sailed four times, a total distance of 25 1/2 miles. It lay between Great Captain's Island Light and Motts Point on the west side of Hempstead bay. The yachts crossed the line in a seven knot breeze, rails under under the starboard tack, scarcely a biscuit toss between them.

In the first half hour of the race Resolute had gained nearly half a minute on her rival and was about 200 yards ahead.

CONTRACT

Coal Miners and Operators In Conference at Columbus Today

MAKING NO PROGRESS

And Dispute Will Probably Be Referred to a Joint Committee—Only a Mine Run Basis Will Be Considered By the Miners.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Columbus, O., June 3.—Ohio Coal operators will propose a means of renewing the old wage contract which expired March 31, and still paying on the mine run basis, when the wage difficulty goes to a conference of twelve miners and twelve operators today, according to C. E. Maurer, of Cleveland, chief spokesman for the operators.

Assembled in joint convention the two factions made no progress toward determining a satisfactory scale and both side favored referring the dispute to a joint committee. John P. White, International president of the United States Mine workers, in an address urged the operators to declare clearly whether they would recognize the mine run basis of payment.

This brought the reply from Mr. Maurer that the operators would pay in accordance with the new mine run law, but that old rates could be renewed.

The operators proposal is to pay for all coal mined as the law specifies, but to pay only a nominal amount, two cents a ton, for that which goes through the screen. The result would be payment virtually of the old wage scale.

President White said the miners will not consider any but a mine run basis, but did not say whether such a compliance with the law would be favored by the miners.

Mr. Maurer said the proposition which the operators will make is to pay 99 cents a ton for pick mined coal which passes over the screen and two cents a ton for the fine coal which passes through the screen, instead of $1 straight for only that which passes over the screen. They will pay 68.5 cents for Machine mined coal, and two cents for the slack.

Estimating on the Eastern Ohio basis, that 35 percent of the production coming from the mine is fine coal, the pay for miners would be equivalent to the old scale he declared.

Mr. Maurer declared Counsel, for the operators tomorrow will file with the United States Supreme court a petition asking an interlocutory decree of injunction against the operation of the Ohio mine run law, until the court can finally pass on the constitutionality of the law.

D. J. Jordan, Cleveland operator on the floor today explained that operators cannot afford to pay a higher rate of wages and still compete with West Virginia and Pennsylvania coal interests.

It has been noticeable in the joint conference which opened yesterday that Eastern Ohio operators are taking the lead in trying to settle the controversy. At the first conference held in April, Hocking operators were more in evidence.

Appoint 50 Special
Policemen For Duty
At Tarrytown, N. Y.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
New York, June 3.—Sheriff Doyle of Westchester county, in which is situated the country home of John D. Rockefeller was last night authorized to appoint fifty special policemen to serve for thirty days, or until the situation created by the advent of so many members of the Industrial Workers of the World has cleared.

In refusing several applications for permits for open air meetings, the trustees issued a statement saying they considered such gatherings inadvisable at this time.

Besides increasing the police force by fifty members to guard against threatened invasion by the Industrial Workers of the World, the town authorities here today began paving Fountain Square where the gatherings have been held with soft tar like preparation. Whether this was done by chance or by design, it eliminates the square as a rendezvous for several days to come. Industrial Workers of the World have held demonstrations here as a protest against the attitude of Rockefeller in the Colorado mine strike.

CLEVELAND

Making Fight for Place on Directorate of the Federal Reserve Bank.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Cleveland, O., June 3.—Cleveland bankers, assembled today with financiers from Pennsylvania, Kentucky, West Virginia and the balance of Ohio, were determined not to yield a place on the directorate of the federal reserve bank here. They were of the opinion that if Cleveland didn't land one of the three banker directors to be elected, it should have one of the three business men directors, and the names of four prominent Clevelanders were mentioned.

The 25 bankers of Group 2—banks between $50,000 and $150,000 in capital and surplus—Wednesday fell in with the plan of group 1, and appointed a committee of five to serve with a quorum from group 1 and 3 to devise a system of nomination of directors. The committee named by group 2 consisted of W. A. Graham, of Sidney, E. D. Moody, of Dennison; P. C. Berg, of Hillsboro; John F. White, of Logan, and W. W. Bottomfield, of Oak Point, Pennsylvania.

After group 3 meets late today and appoints a similar committee the 15 will get together and nominations will be in order.

Group 3 has as candidates for the directorate, Stacey B. Rankin of South Charleston, secretary of the Ohio Bankers Association, and T. C. Hunsicker of Dalton, Ohio.

George C. Sellers, of Wellston, presided over the meeting of group 2, Wednesday and R. A. Biechle of Wooster was secretary.

UNITED IN SORROW

MILITANT USES
A HATCHET ON AN ATTENDANT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
London, June 3.—A savage attack with a hatchet was made today by a young and stylishly dressed suffragette on an attendant at the Dore Gallery who tried to prevent her from destroying valuable pictures on exhibition there. The woman had already ruined two paintings in the gallery which is in the heart of the fashionable quarters of London, and was hacking a third when an attendant named Bourletz stopped her.

The Vandal turned on the man and rained a shower of blows on his body severely injuring him.

Other attendants overpowered her. She kicked, struggled and screamed until she was turned over to the police.

A letter was left in the gallery by the attendant's assailant in which she asserts militants heretofore have been "Too Ladylike" she adds: "To stop this you must give us justice. We are willing to die for it before we give in. We have tried all other ways. Now we are going to fight and you can allow us to be killed. Others will arise to take our place. I have joined in the war." One of the pictures destroyed was "Love Wounded," a priceless engraving by Bartolozzi.

SUFFRAGETTES
OF NEWSPAPERS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Belfast, Ireland, June 3.—Militants today assaulted the managing editors of two of the leading newspapers of Belfast which had criticized them.

Two well dressed women, one of them a giant in stature went to the Belfast Telegraph office and entered the managing editor's office. Without speaking a word the larger one walked up to Mr. Stewart, the managing editor, and with her cleaver fist knocked him out of his chair. At the same time her companion hurled a mudclay bottle at his head. The women then went to the News Letter office and made a similar attack on Mr. Anderson of that newspaper.

Superior Court Decides Against the Federal League Team

FORMER 'CINCY' PITCHER

Restrained From Playing With Kansas City Team of Federal League—Court Reviews History of the Case Before Denying Motion.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Chicago, June 3.—Judge Foell in the superior court of Cook county today sustained the injunction restraining "Chief" Johnson from pitching for any team except the Cincinnati Nationals and by his decision stopped what threatened the most extensive raid on organized baseball ever made. Scores of players, including a dozen or more stars were ready to "jump" to the outlaw team when the word that Johnson's case had been decided in favor of the Kansas City team whom he joined after deserting Cincinnati. Contracts it is said, had already been signed depending on the "Contingency" that the pitchers "Jump" would be held legal.

What action the Federal will now take regarding the suit could not be learned early this afternoon for neither President Gilmore of the league, or its local counsel could be found. The injunction, of course, restrained Johnson from playing on any team within the state of Illinois, but while he could have pitched in games outside, the Kansas City club declined to let him rather than take a chance on prejudicing his case. Foell, at request of the federal league, granted an appeal and twenty days for filing the certificate of evidence. A decision in a similar case involving a dispute between the Philadelphia Nationals and the Chicago Federals over the services of Wm. J. Kilffer, a catcher, is expected of the United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati about June 10th.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Chicago, June 3.—The injunction preventing George H. (Chief) Johnson, former Cincinnati pitcher, from playing with the Kansas City federal league team, stands, according to a decision of Judge George H. Foell in the superior court of Cook county today.

The temporary injunction was obtained by Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati team. It enjoined Johnson from playing with any team other than Cincinnati.

By Judge Foell's decision denying Kansas City's motion to dissolve the injunction it becomes permanent. In his decision the court said:

"The testimony shows with few exceptions section seven, referring to the ten days cause cited in the contract in question, is practically the same as that contained in every day ball contracts entered into with the players and the principal clubs during the last twenty years or more.

Under the evidence in this case and the rule laid down by the authorities the court is of the opinion that the contracting question here is not void because of section seven. The court's decision was based on the four points raised in the case. First, that Johnson was induced to sign with the Federal club by false representations. Second, that the seventh section referring to clause because of which a player can be dismissed on ten days notice makes the contract invalid as it is not reciprocal in its effects. Three, that the complaint against the Cincinnati club has secured justice in a suit for damages. Fourth, that a negative covenant in this case, the clause restraining the player from playing with any team other than the one contracted with during the life of the contract cannot be enforced in law.

After reviewing the history of the case the court took up these points in order.

In regard to the first point concerning the alleged fraudulent representations made to Johnson, regarding the ability of the Federal league to fulfill a contract that nothing had been given in evidence to show such misrepresentations had (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3.)

HERMANN'S CLOTHIER
The Store Where Quality Counts

YOUNGSTERS GET CHANCE WITH REDS

HERZOG'S POLICY HAS BEEN TO BRING OUT THE BEST IN RECRUITS.

With the Result That He has Strong Second String—Jack Johnson Frank Moran Fight.

Cincinnati, June 3.—Cincinnati fans claiming the pennant? Certainly not. All that is being claimed in this man's town at present in a base ball way is that the Reds, under the leadership of Charlie Herzog, are playing a niftier kind of the national pastime than has been placed on exhibition by red-hosed warriors in many years, and that no team that has anchored here temporarily this season has shown more stamina, dash, general ability and loyalty than have the Herzogites of 1914. True the members of the team are not running true to form to the form that was worked out for them around the sport-room radiators during the winter. But that doesn't mean that they are trotting ahead of their gait. The fact that they have been going at their present pace for more than a month is the best evidence in the world that they have something more than "luck" in their repertoire. Taking their latest series with the other seven teams in the National League, and their record is as follows: With Chicago, won 3, lost 3; with St. Louis, won 3, lost 2; with Boston, won 4, lost none; with New York, won 2, lost 2; with Brooklyn, won 2, lost 1; with Philadelphia, won 2, lost 1; with Pittsburgh, won 4, tied 1, lost none; making a total of 21 victories and 9 defeats in a swing at all the teams. Some class. "Charlie Herzog" isn't the most sociable man in base ball, "decoyed" one of the Reds the other day, "but he hasn't made an enemy of any member of the team, and that's more than can be said of any manager the Reds have had in years." Herzog, it seems, has taken a sort of middle ground with his men. He doesn't work the "good fellow" racket to a frazzle, nor is he what in base ball parlance is known as a "Crab." He plays no favorites, makes no alibis for any shortcomings or mistakes he may pull during a game; treats his men like human beings, and as a result has their confidence, respect and hearty cooperation. This Cincinnati team is never licked until the last man has been retired, and then it is ready for another fight. The Reds lead the league in base running, glugger and confidence, and still are not claiming anything but credit for the work they are doing—no particular berth for Oct. 5.

In the recent series with the Pittsburghs two of the Reds' young pitchers earned their right to be worked regularly from now on. Douglass, the Georgia Peach, defeated the Pirates 3 to 2 in a nifty skrimish as any youngster ever was sent into, while Davenport, the Texas Tiger, simply ate up the crew of Clarke on the afternoon of Decoration Day, putting the whitewash on them while his teammates piled up three runs behind him. There are two more young pitchers who soon will be started in games for the Reds, the rescue work done by Lear and Adams recently showing that these boys possess the right stuff, and Manager Herzog has promised them an early trial right off the reel. That leaves Tingersoll and Rowan for experimentation purposes later on—and both will be given every opportunity to work up to a regular job. The entire gang will be taken East for the series which begins the latter part of this week, no Sunday games being booked on the local lot until the Pittsburghs come for another double header on June 28.

Conflicting reports come from Europe regarding the condition of Jack Johnson, who is to fight Frank Moran near Paris the latter part of this month. Some of the stories are to the effect that the world's champion is about all in; and that Moran will have little trouble vanquishing him. Others news is to the effect that Johnson is going along easily, getting into shape sufficiently strong to make it cinch that he'll lick his white opponent. Judging by Moran's performances in the past, Johnson will have to be in mighty poor condition not to cop the big end of the decision in the coming fight, for no one who has followed Moran's career for some years can take him seriously as a championship proposition.

FINE ASSORTMENT OF ADVERTISING FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Souvenir programs, awning dates pennant streamers, window cards, opening day tags, automobile pennants, post cards, window pennants and hats—these are some of the forms of advertising to be used here in boosting the Chautauqua which starts in Newark, July 16. As the seven-day program under canvas approaches, there are evidences of activity among committees who guaranteed the Chautauqua, and from present indications this is to be a great Chautauqua town this summer. The program lasting seven days, is to include music, magic, lectures, readings, drama, and various other forms of entertainment. The Redpath offices in Columbus, Ohio, where the Chautauqua publicity matter is prepared, have promised to furnish the local committee with many forms of advertising. There will be several hundred color post cards, a thousand or two window pennants, a hundred Chautauqua hats and many other desirable little stunts to acquaint people with the fact that a Chautauqua is on the way. Great Britain in 1907 produced 24,674,170 gallons of apple cider.

BASEBALL BREVITIES

The Detroit Tigers ran bases on Shalt, the star of Comiskey's backstops, like he was an amateur Tuesday, no less than seven being pilfered. Had Cobb been in the game it might have been a dozen.

Wylie Taylor, a recruit of Ricket's Browns, had Cleveland shut out hitless until the ninth when Turner singled. Tough luck for the young star, for had he gotten away with a no-hit game at this stage in his young life his fame would have been deathless if he had never won another game.

Washington gained on the Athletics Tuesday and now only three points separate the two leaders in the American league race. The Nationals won while Mack's crew broke even.

Maisel, the chain lightning third sacker of the Yankees, contributed three hits and two stolen bases to put his team in the lead over the Washingtons Tuesday, only to lose the game by a poor throw in the ninth, allowing the winning run.

Herzog's pitchers seemed to have developed a bad streak of wildness the past few days, and this is a fatal attribute, especially with the youngsters. Davenport gave five passes Tuesday. Control is the prime requisite for a pitcher and none can be a star without it, but some youngsters do not seem to realize its importance.

Pittsburgh with Tuesday's defeat by the Cubs, has lost the eighth straight game. A slump in batting seems to have developed and the Pirate twirlers are not pitching air tight ball by any means.

Sherwood Magee of the Phillies accepted seventeen out of nineteen chances, playing short against the Giants Tuesday, in two games.

Wildness and errors were responsible for all runs scored in the Chillicothe-Lexington game Tuesday. Autman forced in Lexington's only run by two hit batsmen and two bases on balls in succession, while errors gave Chillicothe its two tallies.

Tom Clark is batting better than any catcher that has been with the Reds since the palmy days of Heinie Peltz and Larry McLean. His hits are not only timely, but very frequently for extra bases, while his backstopping and throwing is satisfactory. Gonsaltz, the Cuban is a good substitute, and has filled in nicely on a number of occasions when Clark was absent.

Governors in Conference.

The seventh annual conference of governors is to be held at Madison, Wis., June 9. When these annual meetings were started, their enthusiastic promoters hoped they might attain the power almost of a third House of Congress. The actual results have of course been very much less.

As it has worked, the governors themselves have not always taken the meetings very seriously. Some of them did not feel like taking long journeys merely to take part in a debating forum. And a governor does not always look as big at this meeting as he did in his capital at home. The influence he is able to exert often dwindles when he crosses his state boundary.

Nevertheless, these meetings can be made very useful in considering plans for uniform state action. In a great many matters endless confusion is caused by needless differences in state laws. The meeting gives a chance to map out broad lines of uniform policy which the state legislatures shall be asked to accept.

Whether Governor Cox intends to go to Madison next Tuesday has not been announced but this much is certain, if he does go he will command attention and what he may have to say will be worth hearing. Governor Cox is the man who speaks with force, with dignity, with grace and above all with good common sense.

Answer This One.

Efforts are being made to prove that the Standard Oil Company's $10,000,000 increase in property returns in Hancock county was voluntary and that the Warnes law had nothing to do with it. If this is so, why wasn't the increase made last year, when there wasn't any Warnes law?

CHASING THEM ALONG

The reactionary opponents of the progressive and humane measures of the Cox administration in Ohio have no sooner landed on one measure than they have been driven from it, for the simple reason that their position has been untenable. They have kept up a constant "caw," like the crow their veritable prototype, but like the crow have been easily and quickly dislodged and then they move on to another object, or rather, "objection." They have attempted to deceive the people all along have misrepresented facts and done a large quantity of just plain lying, in the vain hope that they could make some of it stick. Almost every progressive measure for which Governor Cox is responsible has been assailed without sense or reason. These reactionary crews have been dislodged from their roosting place of opposition to the school law, the workmen's compensation law and several other measures and now they are rapidly getting away from their opposition to the Warnes law, since that measure has been working out so satisfactorily and accomplishing such great results. They are getting pretty near to the end of their string, but it is assumed that, Bourbon-like they will keep on and try something else. They bank on successfully deceiving the people. Where will the croakers land next? The cartoon in today's paper aptly forcefully illustrates the situation.

Wisdom from Washington

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 3.—[Special.]—Just who has been responsible for starting a story that there is a conspiracy on foot to defeat the policies and program of President Wilson is still something of a mystery. It is almost impossible to defeat the program of the president that he has marked out, especially as the Democratic majorities in both houses are still willing to do his bidding.

At the beginning of his administration the general policy of the president was to carry out the Democratic platform. He was successful with the tariff and the currency legislation, and in time he will be successful with the Panama canal and trust bills. Of course it takes time to get through this legislation, because congress moves slowly, but barring the desire of congressmen to get away and go home there is no reason to believe that any conspiracy exists against the administration.

Critics Have Been Numerous.
It is true that there has been a great deal of criticism of the administration, but it relates mainly to repeal of the canal tolls and the Mexican policy. Canal tolls was not a part of the Democratic platform, and the Mexican policy has scarcely fulfilled the ideas expressed by many leading Democrats before the administration came into power.

The conspiracy talk that has been floating around Washington has been to the effect that some one has been trying to boost Roosevelt and keep him

A Careless Professor.

Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire was discussing a provision in the agricultural appropriation bill, and he told this story of the brown tailed and gypsy moths which have been devastating the forests of New England. "It was caused," he said, "by the importation of a few of these insects by a professor in Harvard college who was investigating their habits. He put a few on the window sill and they blew out and scattered all over the country, and as a result it has cost millions of dollars to fight these pests."

Can They Keep a Quorum?

The question that is bothering leaders in both the senate and house is whether they will be able to keep a quorum after the 1st of July. Quite a number of members have declared that they are not going to remain here, especially when congress should have closed up its business and not taken so much time in useless discussion. Of course the constitution provides a method for keeping a quorum, but the difficulty will be in keeping a working quorum in the halls during the long debates.

The Flower Man Remains.

There have been a great many changes in the house of representatives

among the employees, and few of those who were there when the Republicans had control remain, but it is observed that the man who made quite a reputation in distributing flowers still holds his job. This man lives out in the suburbs and has a fine garden. He brings a box of flowers to the capitol every morning which he distributes to members of congress. For a long time he was conductor on the elevator near the speaker's room, and Uncle Joe Cannon would ride up in the elevator in the morning, and as he stepped forth with a flower in his buttonhole which had been placed there by the elevator conductor he would remark to some friend, "My daily bribe."

Her Reason Was Good.

A benevolent old woman, seeing a little tot weeping, went up to it and said, "Now, be a good boy and stop your crying." "I can't!" sobbed the child. "But why can't you?" "I can't!" "Well here's a penny; tell me why you can't be a good boy and stop crying!" "Cause I'm a girl!" —Melbourne Australian.

A Glance Ahead.

The summertime will soon arrive, that season which is hottest; then every man in town should strive to be the leading swatter. For steam ing winds and brazen skies, which make the cornfields flourish, will also multiply the flies, encourage them and nourish. And flies are such a pesky crew, they made one's reason totter; and so the first thing that you do should be to buy a swatter. The good old doctors disagree whenever they have a chance to; one doc goes haw, another gee—we can't guess where they mean to. But on this question of the flies they speak up as one man; bones; they tell us that we ought to rise and wade in blood and raw-bones. So haste and send your little son, or, failing him, your daughter, to hardware dealer with the man to buy a trusty swatter. And then from every lowly cot we'll drive the pesky critters, and sing and chortle as we swat, and hand the flies their bitters. And thus we'll benefit the race—that isn't far-fetched, is it? We'll make the world a better place in which to sit and visit.

One man, Mr. Blank, became tired of waiting for his turn to come and started to leave. Although his beard had come out pretty heavy, he thought no one could notice it and that he could come back the next morning when Hughes, the barber, was not so busy. "Why, I don't need a shave, do I, Hughes?"
Hughes thereupon looked his customer over critically and answered him assuredly: "No, you don't need a shave; all you need is a hair cut on de face."—National Monthly.

THE HAIR AND SCALP—PART VI.

From preceding lessons you have learned the reason and value of scalp massage. It invigorates and improves the circulation of the capillaries that feed the hair roots, loosens the scalp and promotes and makes normal the activity of the oil ducts. To get the best results from scalp massage, study the following three exercises and do them at least five minutes every night and for a longer period after a shampoo.

Scalp Massage Exercises.

Begin the movements with the hair line over the forehead. Place the four fingers back of the head lightly on the scalp with backs of the fingers and thumbs pointing further back. Hold the thumbs firmly in the head and rotate the eight fingers in little circles, not permitting them to move the scalp, but to move the scalp over the bony structure beneath. Move the fingers and thumbs a little further along and repeat the movement until the entire scalp has been treated.

Follow this by moistening the fingers with vasoline, hair tonic or whatever preparation you are using on the hair and repeating the same movement without using the thumbs. Be careful in doing these movements that your fingers are on the scalp, not on the hair. The third movement is to loosen the hair from the skull. Place the fingers of both hands firmly on the scalp about an inch apart, hold the scalp firmly with these fingers and the ball of the hand, now move the scalp by bringing the fingers and ball of each hand closer to each other. Repeat with considerable vigor several times. Move the hands along and repeat the operation until the entire scalp has been treated.

Be careful in doing these movements that your fingers are on the scalp, not on the hair. The third movement is to loosen the hair from the skull. Place the fingers of both hands firmly on the scalp about an inch apart, hold the scalp firmly with these fingers and the ball of the hand, now move the scalp by bringing the fingers and ball of each hand closer to each other. Repeat with considerable vigor several times. Move the hands along and repeat the operation until the entire scalp has been treated.

Grace and Mabel asked me if Peroxide of Hydrogen will bleach the neck. Peroxide will bleach and it is heating if there are any eruptions, but it is drying in its action and in time will make the skin wrinkled and yellow. You can safely use it on the neck twice a week if you anoint the skin liberally at night with a good cream or massage cream to offset the drying effect.

Obituary

Mrs. George Markley.

Mrs. George Markley died at her home 116 Hudson avenue at 12:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon of heart failure, superinduced by an attack of kidney trouble, of which she had been a sufferer at intervals for the past 20 years. She is survived by a husband, George W. Markley, a retired furniture merchant and one daughter, Mrs. Queen Adkins of Cambridge and two grandchildren, Marion and Robert Adkins. Two sisters also live in Newark, Mrs. Warren Wright and Mrs. Mary Wilson Lytle. Mr. Thomas H. Sites is an uncle.

The deceased was Amanda Helen Wilson, and was born in Newark, the daughter of the late Samuel and Mary Wilson, April 8, 1843, and was married to George Markley in this city, September 22, 1864. Two children were born, Charles who died in 1870 aged five years, and Mrs. Adkins.

The funeral will take place from the home 116 Hudson avenue at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Rev. Don Tullis pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of which the deceased was a member, conducting the services. Interment in Cedar Hill cemetery.

John Lane Howland.

The death of John Lane Howland, one of Granville's oldest and best known citizens, occurred Tuesday night, June 2, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Burton Case, in Granville. Mr. Howland was in his 80th year and his strength had been visibly failing for over a year, until in February last he succumbed to an attack of grip and for the first time in over 40 years took to his bed with illness. Everything was done for him that the devotion of his wife and two daughters could do, and for the past month hopes have been entertained for his partial recovery at least. But the cold weather of the past few days seemed to sap his vitality and the end came suddenly after all.

Mr. Howland was for years the leading jeweler in Granville, and served the town in many capacities, loyally and efficiently. After he disposed of his business he engaged in farming with his son.

The Governor's Dog.

A certain ex-governor of a certain state was extravagantly fond of his dogs. One day he saw his youngest son kick a favorite blooded pup.
"You unmanly young cub!" roared the irate parent. "How dare you kick my dog? I'll teach you to behave yourself better, sir!"
When the offender was soundly thrashed the father wiped the perspiration from his forehead.
"Let this be a lesson to you," he said, "how to treat my dogs. And now that I think of it, you've been disrespectful to your mother of late, sir!"—New York Post.

LITTLE DISCUSSIONS OF LOVE AND MARRIAGE

BY BARBARA ROYD

The Granitic Husband and Wife.

"I saw a husband and wife today who made me think of pieces of granite," observed the Bachelor Girl.

"Granite as a characteristic isn't so bad," observed the Bachelor. "A certain amount of firmness is rather desirable."

"It wasn't the firmness that was so noticeable, but the coldness and hardness. And I think the husband had caught it from the wife."

"Is the granitic structure catching?" laughed the Bachelor.

"In a case like this I think it is. Husbands and wives do sometimes grow to look alike, you know. I suppose it is a case of thinking alike and in time expressing physically what they are mentally. And so they have both come to look like granite, though I observed signs that she was the leader in this flinty way of thinking."

"What were the signs?" inquired the Bachelor.

"He had velvety brown eyes, the kind that have red sparks in them. And at times there was a suspicion of warm color in his cheeks. Even now there was a trace of the human about him, but she was all cold, hard rock. I can imagine him, when a young man, as having fire in his eyes and warm red in his cheeks, and being cordial and kindly and enthusiastic. But she has probably been icy and sarcastically critical, and so gradually she has chilled his ardor, until the fires have gone out and he has become transformed into the same cold, hard texture she is. I could never imagine a glow in her eyes, even when he asked her to marry him. I think she looked upon the proposal with a calculating gleam, considered the pros and cons of it, and as he seemed likely to prosper, accepted. But isn't it a pity he has grown like her instead of her growing like him?"

"Naturally the stronger dominates."

"But wouldn't it be better to grow in the direction of what is good instead of what is stronger. I think if I had to live with a block of granite, rather than turn into stone, myself, I would chip and hack."

"You might strike a fault in the rock and cause a split," interrupted the Bachelor.

"That would be preferable to becoming a rock myself. And if I failed in every effort I made to change him, I should get some dynamite of some sort and just blow up things. Petrifying wouldn't appeal to me. That couple I saw today won't have much left in life, it seems to me, in the course of ten or twenty years more. And yet if she had become warm and human like him instead of his becoming cold and calculating like her, how different their lives would be today and how much happier. I do not imagine stones enjoy life very much."

"I am perfectly willing to assimilate all your virtues," said the Bachelor.

"But you have some awfully nice ones of your own," conceded the Bachelor Girl. And for once she smiled upon the Bachelor in a way to set his pulses to leaping.

Head Stopped Up? Can't Breathe? Try the New External Treatment

Applied in Salve Form Over Throat and Chest Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption.

Vapor treatments are best for all inflammations of the air passages. The vapors carry the medication direct to the inflamed surface without disturbing the stomach as do internal medicines. A cheap and very convenient vapor treatment is a good application of "Vick's" "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve over the throat and chest, covered with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases vapors of Thymol, Eucalyptol, Menthol, Camphor, and Pine Tar, that are inhaled with every breath, through the air passages to the lungs. These vapors open the air passages, loosen the phlegm, and heal the raw surfaces. If the cold is in the chest, apply hot wet towels to open the pores. Vick's is then absorbed through the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness. A little Vick's applied to the nostrils and over the temples is very beneficial for head colds and catarrh and will relieve most cases of headache and neuralgia. Vick's is also excellent for Asthma, Hay Fever, and Bronchial Troubles. Three sizes at all dealers—25c, 50c, and $1.00.

MAKE SAVING A PLEASURE

We sometimes think more people would get ahead if they could only get over the idea that saving means hardship.

Now, we never advocate saving from the miser's standpoint of saving merely to have money.

Money in itself is not worth having.

But we do advocate saving money for what IT WILL PROCURE FOR YOU, in other words for the joy of spending it.

We advise people to save when they are young so they can have money TO SPEND when they are old. We advise people to save in order that they can SPEND the money for a home.

Think of what you will spend the money for. The saving is not a hardship but A JOY.

Try it and see.

OLD PEOPLE VICTIMS OF DAN CUPID

That cupid laughs at experience and defies age was shown today when Rev. L. C. Sparks, pastor of the First M. E. church officiated at the marriage of Samuel S. Alspach, 80, a retired farmer of Thornville, and Mrs. Rebecca Scarborough, 70, a nurse, whose home is in Newark. The wedding took place at 1:30 o'clock on Wednesday. Neither the bride nor the groom was attended. Mr. and Mrs. Alspach will reside in Thornville.

License was also granted to Elmer Brownfield, 69, a farmer living near Newark and Mrs. Nancy Adams, 79, of Eden township. Mr. Brownfield has been married twice before and his bride-to-be has been married three times.

DEMURRER TO PETITION IN DAMAGE CASE

Argued by Counsel in Which City is Defendant in $5,000 Damage Case—Court News.

In common pleas court on Tuesday, the court heard an argument of counsel upon a demurrer to the petition in the case of Edward M. O'Grady v. the City of Newark. Plaintiff brings the suit to recover damages for personal injuries resulting from an explosion of a peanut roaster which was on the north-west corner of the square on the 21st of August, 1911. A part of the machinery struck plaintiff's right leg and he alleged that he has been permanently injured, claiming that it is the duty of the defendant to keep the streets of the city open, clear and free from nuisance, and had no right to allow persons to occupy the streets permanently for business purposes. Plaintiff asks for compensation in the sum of $5,000.

Frank A. Bolton appears for O'Grady, and Ralph Norpell, for the city.

TRUCE IN TOLEDO FRANCHISE WAR IS IN EFFECT TODAY

[Associated Press Telegram]

Toledo, O., June 3.—Truce, arranged yesterday in the ten years street railway franchise war is in effect today. Cars are running as usual and riders will refuse to pay more than the three cent rate fixed by ordinance which became effective March 27 and which has been the subject of litigation, are carried free. No attempt is made to eject them.

Mayor Keller has called a meeting for tomorrow night of the city council committee on franchise in attempt to resume negotiations with the company, broken off last week. Leading business men, members of the Commerce club, the Real Estate board and Retail Merchants board completed an organization last night to force settlement of some kind.

The company, which issued an ultimatum yesterday that no more passengers would be carried at three cents and that regular fares would be collected beginning today has rescinded that order pending possible speedy action by the city council.

The safety director has also rescinded his order to place a possible rioting when the company begins collecting five cents cash fare.

Oats sympathized with the strength of other grain. The fact that the growing crop was in a critical period with field conditions none too favorable tended to restrict selling in provisions buyers were in a majority. An upturn of prices at the yards formed an incentive for a advance.

Search now is being made for the bodies. Reports that Burwell was executed as a spy are being investigated by the government of Tamaulipas.

One hundred and four visits were made by teachers to the homes of children during the month and 1005 such visits have been made during the year. No one can estimate the value of this kind of work in encouragement to children and parents.

During the past month 1378 visits were made to the schools by parents and other. 875 of these visits were made by parents. This large number of visits is due to patronage week. During the year, 4656 visits have been made to the various schools of the city, of this number over 3000 were by parents. This is a fine showing and is an index to the interest manifest in the city schools.

There are 51 schools that report no tardiness for the month.

The following teachers deserve special mention for high attendance. Their percentages follow:
Dora Brenschi, 100; Gladys Beecher, 97; Jessie Browne, 99; Flavia Dunston, 97; Helen Lavin, 97; Mary Newham, 98; Helen Pigg, 97; Jessie Severe, 97; Anna Frye, 98; Bess Taafel, 98; Ester Kissane, 97; Emily Hall, 97; Carrie Kirby, 98; Marian Weiant, 97; Gertrude Avey, 98; Kate Sparks, 98; Elizabeth

Mound school had a social on May 29th and made a neat sum to be used in buying pictures for the building. Fourth street school has a school on Thursday evening of this week, and Central school on Friday evening.

Rev. Calvin G. Hazlett will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to this year's class of over 100 graduates on next Sunday afternoon in the High school auditorium. Commencement exercises on Thursday evening, June 11, and senior class play on Tuesday evening June 9.

Since this is the last published report of the year, the superintendent of schools desires to express his appreciation to the Newark Advocate and American Tribune for the publishing of the reports of the year. He has found the Newark press always interested in the school news and loyal to the best interests of the schools. Without any expense whatever these reports have been published and the school patrons thus given an opportunity to keep in touch with the work of the schools.

OHIO TO SPEND A VAST SUM FOR GOOD ROADS

Fifteen million dollars will be spent for good roads in Ohio this year, according to the estimate of State Highway Commissioner Marker. Of this sum $9,000,000 will be spent on contracts under the supervision of the state highway department. The remaining $6,000,000 will be spent directly by counties and townships.

Before July 1st. it is expected that the total mileage of road construction contracted for by the state department will be 309.90 miles, the total cost of which will be $4,200,000. Macadam will be the construction material for 138.22 miles of improved roadway, brick for 93.34 mile, and concrete for 88.34 miles.

"From now on the state will be letting contracts for the construction of highways at the rate of a million dollars or more at each letting," said Highway Commissioner Marker after ordering advertisements for bids for various highway projects to be opened on June 16, the estimate on which aggregate nearly $1,000,000.

The June contracts will call for construction of fifty different improved highways in 29 of the 88 counties of the state. The largest single contract is that calling for the paving of 16.62 miles of the old National pike with brick in Belmont county, the estimated cost being $408,000.

Inactivity of railroads in construction work is proving to be a boon to the building of good roads by the state this year. Several big railroad contracting firms are bidding on big road construction jobs. There are several thousand idle railroad construction employees who will be given work soon after the contracts are let.

That there is keen competition for the road contracts is indicated by the fact that the proposals thus far have been much lower than the highway department's estimates for the work.

CONTEST TIME LIMIT IS EXTENDED

In order to be fair to every contestant, giving all ample time in which to obtain the coupons they desire and to study the pictures and submit their solutions, the Advocate has extended the time limit. Coupons may be obtained up to 6 p. m. Friday, June 5. Orders postmarked June 5 will be accepted. The time for submitting solutions is extended from May 30 to June 10. No Solution will be accepted after June 10, except solutions postmarked June 10 will be accepted. This extension of time made at the request of scores of contestants will give all an opportunity to get what coupons they need and will give all the time they need to study and solve the 70 pictures.

WHAT NEURASTHENIA IS

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper.

NEW YORK SHOW TELLS HOW TO SAVE THE FOREST WASTE

The forest products exposition now being held in New York presents many models and charts from the forest service which show utilization of wood, particularly the use of by-products.

The amount of wood used and wasted is shown in a series of models depicting all stages of the lumber industry from the tree standing in the forest to the boards and shingles in the finished dwelling. The first model of the series shows a number of trees standing in the forest. The next model shows these same trees felled, and forming a pile of logs and a heap of tops and branches. The succeeding step is a miniature sawmill, beside which are piles of lumber, of slabs, and of sawdust, all from the logs shown in the previous model. The next model shows what becomes of the rough boards after they have been through the planing mill; the resultant material in several piles—one of edgings and trimmings, one of shavings, and one of the planed boards. Last comes a newly-finished dwelling house, around which are the odds and ends of the lumber left over from the building.

What Wood Is Wasted.

The relative amount of material used and wasted is indicated roughly in these models, but is shown according to actual scale in another part of the exposition in a series of diagrammatic charts. In the logging process 12 per cent. of the standing tree is left in the stumps and tops, leaving 87 per cent. to go to the sawmill. The various forms of waste shown at the sawmill constitute about 43 per cent. of the original tree so that the rough boards constitute the remaining 44 per cent. Most of the sawmill waste is unavoidable, it is asserted, and due to economic conditions 77 million saw take out all they can afford to.

Seasoning reduces this 42 per cent. After the planing and other finishing processes, the finished lumber forms only 39 per cent. of the tree. The waste involved in building the house amounts to 4 per cent. more, so that the proportion of the original tree which finds itself finally in the finished dwelling is not more than 35 per cent.

How Waste is Utilized.

But all of the two-thirds need not be wasted. Some of it at least should go into by-products, according to the forest service which is studying such utilization. The bulk of the waste, such as tops, bark, slabs, and edgings, can be made into charcoal, turpentine, tannic acid, wood alcohol, acetate of lime, pulp and paper, and even the sawdust is made into wood alcohol and grain alcohol, and used in different forms for fuel.

Illustrations of this utilization of mill waste are shown at the exposition in a series of wall cases. One case shows the use by a knife manufacturer of the dogwood waste of a maker of shuttle blocks. Another case shows how the waste involved in making large school furniture is converted into scrubbing brush for a brush factory. Other cases display shoe lasts made from discarded templates, the use of waste veneer cores for mine rollers and for paper pulp stock, sawdust made into floor sweeping compounds, and dowels of various sizes manufactured from co-operation waste.

Non-Inflammable Shingles. Another exhibit consists of the inflammability test upon shingles treated with certain chemicals. One-half of a shingle is treated, the other half left untreated. With the best preservatives so far devised, a flame which causes the untreated half to burn does not affect the treated half.

Portions of the various mechanisms for using and saving wood form an important part of the exposition. Thus a model preservation plant is shown, consisting of two small storage tanks, a pressure cylinder, a yard and track, together with photographs of one of the largest wood preservation plants in the country. This is not a complete working model; only certain forms are used to show the general scheme of the plant.

Another exhibit shows a small running model of a paper machine.

This is used in explaining the process of making paper from wood. The samples of paper made at this laboratory from woods not generally used, in comparison with standard woods, illustrate the possibility of using new species and utilizing the mill waste.

The cup system of turpentine is on exhibit. This system is not as injurious to the tree as the old box method, reduces the fire hazard and gives greater yields. The forest service favors the use of the cup system and the exhibit will show the two methods contrasted, both as to injury to tree and difference in yield.

A Miniature National Forest.

Beside the main exhibition relating to forest products, there are certain exhibits relating to other branches of forestry. One of these consists of miniature model of a Rocky Mountain national forest. This model shows a ranger station and a government tree nursery, besides a system of roads, trails, bridges, fire lookout towers, and telephone lines, all built and maintained by the government; by means of them the national forests are both protected from fire and rendered accessible to use.

Another striking model suggests the contrasted effects upon stream run-off and erosion of forested and deforested slopes. The model consists of two simulated hillsides—one of bare soil, the other clothed with vegetation. Water from above is sprinkled alike upon both hills and runs off into two pools. The pool supplied from the bare soil becomes clouded with silt washed from the unprotected surface; the other pool shows only clear water supplied from the protected hillside.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backache or Bladder troubles you—Salts is fine for Kidneys.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then get fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Don't stay gray! Nobody can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. When her hair fell out or took on that dull, gray or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears. After another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant. Agents Hall's been made and that if so they were mere expressions of opinion at best. In considering the ten day clause Judge Foell pointed out that Johnson signed the contract after working under a similar one last year, at a lower salary.

The court held that it was impossible for the complainant to recover in a suit for damages inasmuch as specific performance will not be enforced in the courts.

Considering this contention of the defendant the court indicated that the answer of Johnson did not deny the peculiar nature of his services as set forth in the bill for injunction and that in fact the complainant has been unable to replace him although it has offered a large bonus to secure a pitcher. The contention of defendant that "Negative Covenant" cannot be enforced in law was the strongest point brought forward in the hearing of the case for the dissolution for the injunction, numerous causes being cited in its support the court said.

The court pointed out that in paying Johnson's $500 advance salary, in finding him $150 and by other acts the complainant had shown every inclination of an intent to carry out its part of the contract.

What the Tweed Divides.

The difference between English and Scotch inheritance law is very wide. For instance, supposing a man dies intestate and his only living relatives are his wife and mother. In England each would take equal shares of his personal estate, but in Scotland the wife gets one-half of the movable estate, the mother one-sixth, and two-sixths go to the crown.

But supposing the mother alone is living. In England she would get the whole, but in Scotland she would only get one-third, while the other two-thirds would go to the crown.

Then, again, if a man dies intestate and his father and several brothers and sisters are living, in England the father gets the lot, but in Scotland he only gets one-half, while the other half is divided equally among the brothers and sisters of the deceased.—Pearson's Weekly.

Wagner's Search For a Pawnshop.

Wagner's worst experience of poverty was during his sojourn in Paris in 1840, when he had to pawn all that he had and his wife possessed of any value.

"I looked up the French equivalent for a pawnshop," he relates in his autobiography, "as I was too shy to make inquiries. The only word I could find in my little dictionary was 'lombard'."

On the map of Paris I found a very small thoroughfare called 'Rue des Lombards,' and thither I went only to lead the expedition fruitless. Often on reading the inscription 'Mont de Piete' I felt curious to know its meaning.

Eventually, to my great delight, I learned that this 'Berg der Froemlichkeit' was where I should find salvation, and there we now carried all we possessed in the way of silver.—London Chronicle.

Admit They Are Great.

In an address to the Canadian club in Montreal, James Bryce said: "I do not think it would be advisable for me to say much, for I have the good fortune to be a Scotchman myself. I won't pursue the theme of what contributions Scotchmen should be able to make to Canada's literature and science for the very simple reason which was given by a friend of mine, who said, 'I never argue with Scotchmen that they are a great nation—they admit it.'"

His Weakness.

"Have you ever invested in mining stocks that were to pay 100 per cent in less than a year?"

"Why do you wish to know?"

"I overheard a man say the other day that he didn't believe you had ever done a foolish thing in your life."

Chicago Record-Herald.

Still Waiting.

"Well, I ain't been thar yet."—St. Louis Republic.
